

Sheriff Lyon in New York.

Abbeville has the best Sheriff and the best Deputy Sheriff in America. For three weeks back they have been seen busy capturing blind tigers and blind tiger liquor and collecting fines from the blind animals. Last week Sheriff C. J. Lyon broke the monopoly in the liquor business by hunting forgers of checks and other evil doers. A few days ago he located Edward G. Kenney at Middletown, New York, who is charged with forging a check on the McCormick Bank for $150. With his prisoner the Sheriff left New York last Monday night and is expected home today. The prisoner is a traveling salesman from an Atlanta firm. During Sheriff Lyon's absence, deputy Sheriff Bruce is thoroughly alive to business and makes it interesting for transgressors. Last Monday night he and W. G. Stalnaker went out to Calhoun Falls on a freight when W. C. Bailey, emigration agent from Anderson, was not expecting them. They arrested Mr. Bailey, Magistrate Ed. Jones issued a warrant for his arrest, fixing bond at $500.00. W. F. Cox, of Anderson, came surety. Bailey had two white emigrants with him and expected to meet 25 others at Herdmont, Ga., the emigrants being from this State. The County is safe in the hands of such vigilant officers as Sheriff Lyon and deputy Sheriff Bruce.

Picnic.

There will be a picnic at Warrenton next Friday. Everybody invited.

Dargan's sale of kitchen ware came off Monday morning, judging from the crowd and anxiety of the ladies to get first choice of "Farino Boilers" the housekeepers are faring well at home, they must have plenty to cook only sadly in need of these articles. They hope Mr. Dargan will get up another entertainment.

The big snow remembered by our oldest people was on April 15th, 1849. We came near having it repeated this year.

Mr. William Bell was shaking hands with friends on the street yesterday. He is now book-keeper for Mr. Keiser at Calhoun Falls.

Miss Mary Miller has opened an afternoon dancing class for children, no thing adds more to the grace and enjoyment of a child than dancing.

Love of Sympathy.

Courteous people strive to look pleasant and seem contented, but who is not prone to speak of their misfortunes to a sympathetic ear? The greatest cause of despondency is ill health. When one feels good all the world has a rosy hue and ordinary cares are trifles light as air. A simple heart burn, a sour stomach, a foul breath, or a coated tongue, a bloated feeling after eating, an unpleasant belching of gas, a palpitation of the heart, and poor digestion are sufficient annoyances to prompt a sufferer's complaint, but rarely considered of enough importance to be treated.

How foolish such neglect. The above symptoms are indications of one of the most dangerous ills of mankind—Catarrh of the Stomach. As the days roll by greater complications appear, and a once healthy, happy soul is doomed to the living torment of chronic dyspepsia.

There is a positive cure for these troubles in Andes' Great Prescription. It is the speediest corrective of all stomach, liver and kidney disorders on the market. It is the most wonderful blood purifier before the public. It is a patented remedy because valuable, but its open formula is published to the world on every package. Get a bottle and ask your physician if it is good. Ask your dealer, C. A. Milford, Abbeville, S. C., for names of local people who have been cured. A bottle is sufficient to prove its merits. It costs but a dollar. With six bottles for five dollars the manufacturers guarantee to cure or refund the money.

Postoffice Receipts.

The following statement of the receipts in the Abbeville postoffice for the year ending March 31, 1907, shows a material increase over those of the previous year:

Render a Just Verdict.

There are a lot of instances where testimony disagrees, and under such circumstances it is hard to render a just verdict. But when the time comes to do your trading and the question arises as to where to get the one hundred cent value for your dollar, or as to the place to trade to experience that easy and satisfied feeling that everything will be just as represented, there is only one possible verdict. All the evidence—positive and circumstantial—points direct to our place of Business as the Temple of Just Trading—Honest Values and Low Prices.

Hundreds of our customers bear evidence upon which this verdict is based, and by their continued patronage have impressed others and thereby they have been induced to join with them in swelling the army of customers.

FLOYD'S SCHOOL.

Closed With Exercises That Would Have Done Credit To Graded School.

Horry Herald. The public school at Floyd, under the efficient management of Miss Martha Melvin of Abbeville closed last Thursday night after a term of six months with an entertainment that would have given credit to a graded school. About four hundred people were present to witness the exercises which consisted of recitations, dialogues and tableaux. It had been arranged to hold the election for the special school levy on the following day, and a general picnic had been announced. By eleven o'clock about two hundred patrons and spectators had assembled to enjoy the day.

April 15, 1849.

Newberry Herald and News.

We clip the following from the Columbia Record. We would refer the editor of the Record and also the editor of the Press and Banner to a statement which is published in another column from Mr. T. S. Duncanson, which fixes the date of the cold spell as April 15, 1849. The Herald and News also published a statement from Mr. T. S. Duncanson some weeks ago in which he fixed the 15th day of April as the date of the cold spell.
